

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Of Smoking Affected
My Heart

So I Had To Sit Up To Breathe.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of congestion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original The Ford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901. I cannot recommend The Ford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

C. D. McFARLAND.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

LIQUID FILMS.

Some Experiments With Knitting Needles, Threads and Soapbuds.

Two knitting needles are attached to each other by two threads at their ends to form a rectangle. On dipping into soapbuds and taking out by a third thread attached to the upper needle the rectangle becomes filled with a transparent film like a pane of glass. A fourth thread attached to the upright threads will be imbedded in the film in any position in which it may happen to fall. But if the film is broken below this thread it will be pulled up into a circular arch by the tension of the contracting film above.

The single arch may be changed to a double arch by pulling on a fifth thread attached to the middle of the fourth, but the latter will fly back to the form of the single arch if allowed to do so. An endless thread dropped on the soap film formed across a wire ring will lie in the position in which it falls until the film is pricked inside of the loop, when it at once becomes an exact circle.—New York World.

Schoolboys Who Never Play.

Broadly speaking, German schoolboys never play. They have no time to do so. They attend day schools forlorn of playgrounds and are so desperately overworked with lessons that all their spare energy and vitality is used up in the endeavor to get through the work diurnally allotted to them. They really have no opportunity from the commencement of the school term to the end of the year for running or jumping, playing at ball or marbles, paper games or any of the other amusements to which English schoolboys, as a rule, devote themselves with an eager assiduity seldom displayed in the dry and thorny pursuit of knowledge.

When a German boy exhibits symptoms of exhaustion and debility, caused by overwork, his parents enter him at a gymnastic institution and compel him to attend one or two evening courses of "scientific calisthenics," very possibly at the expense of his position in his class at school. "Turnerei," however, is not presented to him in the light of play, but downright hard physical work, which may be productive of development to his muscle and benefit to his general health without affording him any keen sense of recreation.—London Society.

SHOPPING IN GERMANY.

Methods That Astonished a Grumbling American Woman.

Perhaps it would be unfair to generalize too confidently, but there are shopkeepers in Germany who make no great effort to dispose of their goods. An instance of this is given in "Three Men on Wheels." The author accompanied an American lady on a shopping excursion in Munich. She had been accustomed to shopping in London and New York and grumbled at everything the man showed her. It was not that she was really dissatisfied. This was her method.

She explained that she could get most things cheaper and better elsewhere. Not that she really thought she could. Merely she held it good for the shopkeeper to say this. She told him that his stock lacked taste. He did not argue with her. He did not contradict her. He put the things back into their respective boxes, replaced the boxes on their respective shelves, walked into the little parlour behind the shop and closed the door.

"Isn't he ever coming back?" asked the lady after two or three minutes had elapsed. Her tone did not imply a question so much as an exclamation of mere impatience.

"I doubt it," I replied.

"Why not?" she asked, much astonished.

"I expect," I answered, "you have bored him. In all probability he is at this moment behind that door smoking a pipe and reading the paper."

"What an extraordinary shopkeeper!" said my friend as she gathered her parcels together and indignantly walked out.

"It is their way," I explained. "There are the goods. If you want them, you may have them. If you do not want them, they would almost rather that you did not come and talk about them."
